

Short Portrait of the Artist Wolfgang Kühnl

Since more than 20 years the pianist Wolfgang Kühnl has been a dedicated chamber musician. Well known instrumentalists as well as singers have sought his artistic cooperation. He has played in a variety of different chamber music formations, including ensembles that focus on contemporary music.

Following his pianistic education in Berlin and London he has continually worked and taught as accompanist and chamber musician at the University of Free Arts in Berlin (UDK). He is a regular member of the Trio Apollon, which was founded by him and two members of the Staatskapelle Berlin and which in 2006 won the »ECHO«-award for the best chamber music cd production of the year. Wolfgang Kühnl plays and teaches on various international master courses and competitions. For many years he has been engaged as orchestra pianist by the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, by the Deutsche Sinfonieorchester Berlin and other famous orchestras.
